THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE DEPARTMENT OF ATOMIC ENERGY (SHRI SATYABRATA MOOKHERJEE) : (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The present nuclear power generating capacity in the country is 2720 MWe. This is scheduled to grow to 6680 MWe by December, 2008 progressively by completion of eight nuclear power reactor units (2x540 MWe at Tarapur, Maharashtra, 2x220 MWe at Kaiga, Karnataka, 2x1000 MWe at Kudankulam, Tamil Nadu and 2x220 MWe at Rawatbhata, Rajasthan) which are under construction. More projects, subject to the availability of funds, are planned so as to reach a total nuclear power capacity of about 10,000 MWe by end of XI Plan. The aim is to reach a total nuclear power generating capacity of about 20,000 MWe by the year 2020.

The capital cost per MWe of nuclear power plants is about Rs. 5 crore/MWe at 2001-02 prices. In regard to coal thermal power plants it is about 20% lower than that of nuclear. However, the cost of generation from nuclear power plants is comparable to that of contemporary thermal power plants at locations about 800 to 1000 km. from the coal pit-heads.
